摘要: Despite significant psychiatric comorbidity in problem gambling, there is little evidence on which to base treatment recommendations for subpopulations of problem gamblers with comorbid psychiatric disorders. This mini-review draws on two separate systematic searches to identify possible interventions for comorbid problem gambling and psychiatric disorders, highlight the gaps in the currently available evidence base, and stimulate further research in this area. In this mini-review, only 21 studies that have conducted post-hoc analyses to explore the influence of psychiatric disorders or problem gambling subtypes on gambling outcomes from different types of treatment were identified. The findings of these studies suggest that most gambling treatments are not contraindicated by psychiatric disorders. Moreover, only 6 randomized studies comparing the efficacy of interventions targeted towards specific comorbidity subgroups with a control/comparison group were identified. The results of these studies provide preliminary evidence for modified dialectical behavior therapy for comorbid substance use, the addition of naltrexone to cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT) for comorbid alcohol use problems, and the addition of N-acetylcysteine to tobacco support programs and imaginal desensitisation/motivational interviewing for comorbid nicotine dependence. They also suggest that lithium for comorbid bipolar disorder, escitalopram for comorbid anxiety disorders, and the addition of CBT to standard drug treatment for comorbid schizophrenia may be effective. Future research evaluating interventions sequenced according to disorder severity or the functional relationship between the gambling behavior and comorbid symptomatology, identifying psychiatric disorders as moderators of the efficacy of problem gambling interventions, and evaluating interventions matched to client comorbidity could advance this immature field of study. # Guide to the Fields in APA Database Records

This guide lists all the fields, plus an explanation of what each field does.

For more information on the fields, including hints and historical notes, take a look at our Record Structures:

- Record Structure for PsycINFO, PsycARTICLES, PsycBOOKS and PsycCRITIQUES \(PDF, 879KB\)
- Record Structure for PsycEXTRA \(PDF, 386KB\)

We have also developed a specialized guide to the fields in PsycTESTS.

The * indicates a field that is display only (not searchable) in the APA PsycNET® vendor system.

Check the online help for your search system or the search guide in our Search Help and Training Center to find out how to use these fields and their values when searching the database.

We also have a printer-friendly version of this field guide in PDF format \(35KB\), which requires the Adobe Acrobat Reader. If you don't already have a copy of the Reader, you can download it for free from Adobe's web site.

Quick Reference Guide

APA DATABASES & ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

PsycINFO® is an electronic bibliographic database that provides abstracts and citations for the scholarly literature in the field of psychology and behavioral sciences. It contains over 4 million references of peer-reviewed literature from the early 1800s to the present.

About this Guide

Access EBSCOhost through your library's website. If you need assistance, please contact your librarian.

This quick reference guide will demonstrate how to search PsycINFO on the EBSCOhost platform in Advanced Search mode.

Source Search (Journal/Book Title)

Enter the journal title or book title in the search box. Choose SO Publication Name from the drop-down list.

For example, typing "American Psychologist" will bring back results from that journal.

Subject (Index Term) Search

Index Terms are taken from the Thesaurus of Psychological Index Terms. The Thesaurus provides the controlled vocabulary for the database.

In EBSCOhost, Index Terms are referred to as Subjects. Select SU Subjects from the drop-down list and enter your search terms in the search box.

You can access the Thesaurus of Psychological Index Terms by
